The Science of Health!

Every Man his own Physician.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

AND

Holloway's Ointment.

Disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

The stomach is the great center which influences the health or disease of the system—abused or debilitated by excess—indigestion, offensive breath, and physical prostration are the natural consequences. Allied to the brain, it is the source of headaches, mental depression, nervous complaints, and unrefreshing sleep. The Liver becomes affected and generates bilious disorders, pains in the side, etc. The bowels sympathize by constiveness, diarrhoea and dysentery. The principal action of these Pills is on the stomach and the liver, lungs, bowels and kidneys participate in their recuperative and regenerative operation.

Erysipelas and Salt Rheum

Are two of the most common and virulent disorders prevalent on this continent. To these the Ointment is especially antagonistic; its modus operandi is first to eradicate the venom and then to heal the cure.

Bad Legs, Old Sores, and Ulcers.

Cases of many years' standing, that have pertinaciously refused to yield to any other remedy, or treatment, have invariably succumbed to a few applications of this powerful unguent.

Eruptions of the Skin.

Arising from a bad state of the blood, or chronic diseases, are eradicated and a clear and transparent surface regained by the restorative action of this Ointment. It surpasses many of the cosmetics and other toilet appliances in every condition of health and station of life.

Piles and Fistula.

Every form and feature of these prevalent and stubborn diseases is eradicated locally and entirely by the use of this emollient; warm fumigations should precede its application. Its healing qualities will be found to be thorough and invariable.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Pimples, burns, chapped hands, chilblains, dandruff, gonorrhea, mercurial eruptions, piles, rheumatism, ringworm, salt-rheum, scalds, skin diseases, swollen glands, sore legs, sore breasts, sore heads, sore throats, sores of all kinds, sprains, stiff joints, tumors, ulcers, venereal sores and wounds of all kinds.

CAUTION.—See that the words "Holloway's New York and London," appear as a watermark on every leaf of the book of directions which encloses each box or pot. No others are authorized to use the name "Holloway's" in connection with the name of the medicine, and the name of the proprietor, or to use the name of the medicine in connection with the name of the proprietor, or to use the name of the proprietor in connection with the name of the medicine.

Well do know the spot, dear — where you will lay me; often have we stood by the place, and as we watched the mellow sunset as it glared in quivering flames through the leaves, and burnished the grassy mound around us with stripes of burnished gold, each, perhaps, has thought that some day one of us would come alone, and whichever it might be, your name would be on the stone.

But we loved the spot; and I know you will love it, none less when you see the quiet sunlight linger and play among the grass that grows over your Mary's grave. I know you'll go there often alone when I am laid there, and my spirit will be with you then, and whispering in the waving branches, "I am not lost, but gone before."

SAYINGS BY JOHN BILINGS.—There is just as much jealousy (only it is less dangerous) among the lowly as among the rich; the poor devil with a whole loaf under his arm is the lord of his neighborhood, and the half loaf looks on with envious wonder while he struts up and down the alley.

We only love them that we fear. This may be one of my lies, but it looks so to me. The best condition in life is not to be so rich as to be envied, nor so poor as to be despised.

If it charity to give to a thankless cuss in need? I'll give it just as much as it would be to save a drowning cow, or play among the grass that grows over your Mary's grave. I know you'll go there often alone when I am laid there, and my spirit will be with you then, and whispering in the waving branches, "I am not lost, but gone before."

YOLO COUNTY DEMOCRAT.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1869.

L. P. FISHER, 20 and 21 New Merchant's Exchange, is our authorized agent in San Francisco. For Eastern Advertising, Mr. Fisher is represented by S. M. Pettigill & Co. of New York and Boston.

Hudson & Menet, 41 Park Row, New York, sole agents for the Democrat in the Eastern States.

Riot in Congress.

By reference to recent telegraphic news it will be seen that there is ample ground to hope for something sensational in the Congressional line. Grave Senators and respectable members of the House of Representatives, including carpet-baggers, met in joint convention for the purely formal purpose of announcing to Grant and Colfax that they are elected President and Vice President of this great Republic, and presently a row commenced, in which epithets are hurled, accusations made, and some gentlemen actually roll up their sleeves to fight. In the course of a scene, such as the police would not tolerate among the bullies, roughs, and runners at a steamboat landing, these delectable Congressmen cease their blackguardism and riotous conduct when they have exhausted the vocabulary of vituperation and have sworn themselves hoarse. Suppose anything approaching this had transpired in a Democratic body? Just imagine how this party of all the decency and harmony and loyalty would have bristled the matter over the land, and how, from the Tribune down, the Radical press would have ventilated this low, brutal blackguardism.

From a Congress which has always disregarded the law and the Constitution, we may expect little regard for the amenities of life and the ordinary decencies of civilization; but it is a law of nature that innate corruption must fester and break out; so the people have good cause to welcome these blotches and outbreaks as the premonitory symptoms of a sort of political small-pox, that by its own horrible corruptness will force itself through the body politic.

SHOWING THEIR HANDS.—Are there any Radicals so blind as to still doubt the intentions of their party leaders in regard to universal suffrage? Will even the most mendacious member of that party now deny that the Radicals in Congress intend to force upon us here in California the Chinese as voters and our political equals? If there are any such, we commend them to the late Congressional news, in which they will read the action of their party securing to Chinamen full civil rights, and especially the right to vote. Suppose the people of the Pacific Coast submit to this and unhesitatingly let Mr. John Chinaman become naturalized and a voter—how long will it be before this law of equality will become outworn? If such a law could ever go into working operation, in the manner and with the details now enacted by the present infamous Congress, in less than seven years from this date the Pacific Coast will be a colony inhabited and ruled by Chinese—a colony unfit for a white man to live in.

But the people are gazing upon the action of this audacious and infamous Congress, apparently too much astonished to believe what they see and hear and read. They stand, partly appalled and partly incredulous, and will never believe their sight and senses till the last extreme test of actual experiment is before them in the shape of the votes of hordes of coolies and pagan barbarians, who shall, with avalanches of ballots, do away with the white man altogether.

VERY DULL.—There is just now a very general dullness—an unseasonable condition of the news market, exceedingly tiresome to a yearning public and eminently fatiguing to those newspaper caterers who supply the demands of the reading public. Even San Francisco, the metropolitan city, can produce nothing for us beyond an occasional desperate effort among the newspaper men at verb-slashing, or some adjectival feat, such as was recently achieved in the local columns of a noted morning paper of that great city, in which the writer alluded, with an air of easy patronage, to Prof. Simons' illuminated Cosmopoligraphicon from the Royal Polytechnic Institute of London. Of course we welcome this cosmo-folly—something or another, and gaze with protracted rapture upon its long and intricate euphony, with implicit faith in its legitimacy; but we rise to a question of information, as they say in parliamentary bodies. We want to know something about that Royal Polytechnic Institute of London. Is it the place where they make all these big words? Did this "Institute" make the aforesaid Cos-folly-what-ever-it-is and that other big word Zampillanastation? This last word broke several printing offices when it first came out, and who can tell what may be the effect of Professor Simons' new word on the limited fonts of the country press if that big institution of his should undertake to make the tour of the interior villages. We move the locals of the Chronicle and Morning Call to examine into this question.

SEX.—During the recent debate on the whisky portion of the Tax Bill, Schenck, of Ohio, related an instance where the revenue was swindled by one of the small distilleries, Edridge, of Wisconsin, inquired: "How much did they pay to get off?" Schenck replied: "If they were friends of your's, they doubtless went to Canada." Edridge retorted: "If they belonged to the ring of which the gentleman (Schenck) is a member, they doubtless got off without going to Canada."

TAKEN pleasure in business and it becomes a recreation.

Special Correspondence of the Democrat. Letter from the Capital.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28, 1869.

The Reconstruction measures of Congress are acknowledged to be failures by all shrewd politicians and careful observers here. An elephant is on the hands of the Republican party and they don't know what to do with him. The leading Radicals who have been the champions of these measures, will not (because they cannot, without an acknowledgment of an entire lack of political sagacity) fall back or modify their exploded theory. Many members of both Houses of Congress, however, are in favor of adopting some other plan for the pacification of the late rebellious States, and it is well known that Gen. Grant is in favor of a more liberal policy towards our late rebellious sisters. The fact that he entertains such opinion is proven by the fact that the extreme Radical members of the Senate have reported a Bill amending the House Bill respecting the Official Tenure Act, so as to allow the President only the power to remove Cabinet officers, and leaving the present Act essentially as it was when enacted as a check upon Andrew Johnson. The ultra Radicals and General Grant are already at variance, and their estrangement will widen and become more bitter, until an open rupture will certainly occur. As a result, Grant will become the leader of a new conservative party, made up of sensible, practical Republicans, the true Democratic element of the North and the entire white population of the South.

Gen. Grant is going to be President himself; he will have no power behind him. Self-will, or rather stubbornness, is his most prominent characteristic, and he has a large stock of practical hard sense. Those who believe that Washburne will be the ruler of the President are entirely mistaken. Grant will "hold the reins." I have it from a near relative of the President elect, and a very close friend, that "all this talk about Gen. Grant's being under the control of any one is nonsense. He will be President in name and in fact. He will listen and profit by the advice of friends, but will not be dictated to and cannot be controlled." The ultra Radicals have caught a Tartar in the President elect, but the true Union men of the country have found a leader. A reconstruction of parties is certain to take place—mark it!

The weather is—and has been since the storm which ushered in the new year—very fine, much like California's bright winter days—a little colder, perhaps. A colored boot-black, in reply to my remark this morning that it was "very pleasant," replied, "Yes, God has been very good to the poor people this winter." Major Jack Stratman and E. G. Waite are of the new arrivals. Chas. E. DeLong, of Nevada, is expected daily.

The Senate yesterday passed a resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to pay to the son of Charles Westmorland the amount of mileage which would have been due the deceased had he lived to deliver the vote of the State. The returns were sent forward and are on file in the office of the Secretary of the Senate.

Several of our California visitors have already started to return; amongst the number Jo G. Deister, of San Francisco, and Samuel Pooman, A. J. Rhoads and W. B. Hunt of Sacramento. But the representatives of the Golden State are still numerous and increasing daily. Entering a popular saloon and restaurant, one evening the present week, I found seventeen of them; so there is no lack of society, of the right sort, in this city of sin and iniquity.

THAT DEBT.—During the last campaign the Radicals stoutly denied that the national debt was increasing, and even went so far as to send an expert committee of Congressmen into the Treasury Department to make a pretended investigation and publish a tissue of falsehoods, showing a large decrease of the debt. Although still in entire control of all the avenues to the Treasury and to the records which are supposed to tell the story of our finances, the Radicals still cannot avoid, in one indirect way and another, revealing the fact that the national debt is increasing by hundreds of millions, in spite of the corrupt and effete financing of that party of public plunderers.

The will of the people may for a little while longer be fooled by the most corrupt party ever known in the world's history; but there is light gradually breaking upon them, in its completeness, the "reconstruction" which has hampered and crippled and bankrupted the nation. In that time Radicals will have no power to baffle the investigations ordered by an inquiring public, and even the members of the various rings, who have made colossal fortunes by robbery, will undergo the punishment of at least having to pay taxes on their plunder.

GOOD.—We heartily endorse the position of the San Francisco Dispatch in regard to the action to be taken by the Democratic party in the matter of the Crawford plan or system, against the old Conservative system. On other words, we agree that the majority shall rule in all our party matters, and until a majority declares against the present Convention system we shall continue to advocate and abide by it. If any experiments are to be tried, let the Radicals test them; for they have everything to gain and nothing to lose, as they are going out of office and cannot possibly injure their chances. Try the Crawford system, Messrs. Radicals; anything is better than your present means of holding on.

MARRIAGE.—Mrs. Laura Cuddy, the eloquent and persuasive, has within the past fortnight taken unto herself a husband in the happy person of a W. Smith, late of Sacramento.

Disgraceful Scene in Congress.

The following Congressional proceedings are reported in the Union's overland telegraph dispatches of recent date:

CHICAGO, Feb. 10th.—It will be remembered that a few days before the second Electoral vote for Lincoln was counted, both houses adopted a joint rule, providing that in counting the Electoral vote any question should arise about the vote of any State the Senate should retire and each house decide the question without debate.

Last Monday each branch adopted new joint rules having special reference to the case of Georgia, which declared that the vote should be included in the summary; but the presiding officer, in announcing the vote, should declare what the result would be with the vote, and what it would be without Georgia, counted. The Senate had voted under this rule that the objection to counting the vote of Georgia was not in order, but the House had voted not to count the vote of Georgia.

When the Senate returned to the hall, Wade announced that the joint resolution had been sustained. Butler snapped back angrily, with slurs at the Senate and its President, insisting on his objection.

Wade said the vote could be counted. Butler, at the top of his voice, cried out, "I appeal from your decision."

Wade said: "There is no appeal." The excitement now became intense; there was the wildest confusion, the President having no control over the thoroughly excited body.

Butler, at the top of his voice, appealed from the decision, without avail. Sausbury and Doolittle sprang to their feet and hurled invectives at Butler. Butler hurled back. Half the members and spectators were on their feet, swinging their arms and yelling for order. Sharp words echoed through the hall from every quarter, mixed with cries of "Order," clapping of hands and laughter. Butler was wild with rage. Wade was cool and obstinate, but in capable of preserving order. "Let us have peace," came from the walls of the hall. Butler with his sleeves rolled up, shrieked that the Senate ought to have leave to go home; that the House could take care of itself, intimating that the Senate and its President were interlopers.

The excitement at this point cannot be described. It extended through the entire hall into the galleries. Colfax sprang to his feet, and in a voice that could be heard above the terrible roar and din, directed the Sergeant-at-Arms to arrest any member of the House who refused to obey the orders of the President. The Sergeant-at-Arms sprang into the thickest of the fray, apparently just in time to prevent a personal collision between Ingersoll and Farnsworth. There was little abatement of the excitement for some time; but Wade found time to declare the session, and announced that L. S. Grant, of Illinois, had been elected President of the United States, and Schuyler Colfax, of Indiana, Vice President of the United States. He then ordered the Senate to retire.

The Speaker resumed the chair and called the House to order, when Butler, smarting under his defeat, said he arose to a question of privilege, and submitted a resolution declaring the act of the Senate and its President arbitrary and tyrannical. Upon this resolution he took the floor and spoke half an hour only as Butler can speak under the severest mental excitement. While confining himself to parliamentary language, he yet found words of the most cutting and abusive character. He denounced the Senate and Wade, and inveighed in a suppressed form of speech which inferred the most dishonorable motives to Colfax. His words boiled out seething and hissing with rage, which he did not attempt to conceal.

Speaker Colfax, whose feelings could only be judged from his blanched face and trembling hands, asked permission to reply (having previously vacated the chair to Davis and taken his seat among the members.) Butler declined to give him the floor, and continued to pour out his impassioned eloquence. At last, from sheer exhaustion, he resumed his seat, and the floor was given to Colfax. No trace of anger or violence in his voice or manner. Very calmly and smoothly he began, and, for the first time during the day, there was silence in the Chamber. There were no invectives, no denunciations in his speech; it was dignified, calm, impressive and manly, but every period cut to the quick, although not a single harsh word was used.

The House, without coming to a vote on Butler's resolution, finally adjourned—not, however, before it became necessary to light the hall. The vote announced Grant and Colfax, 214 votes; Seymour and Blair, 80 votes, counting Georgia, and 71 without Georgia.

WELL DONE.—In the very first emergency of his administration Gen. Grant has shown himself an adroit manager, fully equal to the occasion. We allude to the brilliant stroke by which, with one of his characteristically brief utterances, he effectually disposes of a delicate question in regard to the proposed grand ball at the National Capital.

It appears that the Sammers and Philipps were on hand ready to thrust in the great question of "equality," and to instigate the colored population to claim their right to be present at the grand gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Darkey were bound to attend that ball, and under the Civil Rights Bill and the teachings of the Radical leaders, there was no possible way to prevent them. In this emergency the hero of Vicksburg and Appomattox came to the rescue of his bewildered friends with the remark that if there were no ball there would be no dancers. This broke up that ball very suddenly, and if the signs are worth anything, there will be many such little snubs from the President to his would-be friends.

THAT CONGRESSIONAL BOWIE-KNIFE.—During the late fracas in Congress, Van Horn, who, it is said, hails from law-abiding Massachusetts, made a modest proposition to the Sergeant-at-Arms to cut that distinguished functionary into several very fine fragments if that official should happen to lay hands upon old lighting Ben. Butler. Now, if this kind of talk had come from Texas, or Arkansas, or even from Oregon, we could account for it; but when those nice men, the patrons of education, refinement and the decencies, fall into these habits of cutting people into hash, what are we to expect from those portions of the country which have not been blessed with educational facilities.

GODLESS AND CHRISTLESS; BUT LOYAL.—

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican says: We hear with pleasure that Carl Schurz is likely to be chosen Senator from Missouri in place of Henderson. General Schurz is not only an able editor, eloquent orator and a sound politician, but an honest man, of national reputation and national aims.

Whereupon the Idaho World comments as follows:

Carl Schurz is the man who spoke of the Great Divine Being as "the gentleman beyond the skies whom some call God." Yet the most respectable Radical paper in Massachusetts calls this awful blasphemer a "sound politician" and "an honest man!" Merely another sample of the peculiar morality of sanctimonious New England.

NEW COLLECTION DISTRICT.—In the United States Senate Mr. Cole has introduced a bill to create an additional district for the collection of customs in California, to be called the District of Vallejo, and to include all the territories, bays, harbors, rivers and shores, within the counties of Napa, Solano, Yolo, Colusa, Tehama, Shasta, Sacramento, Yuba, Sutter, Butte, and Siskiyou. A collector of customs is to be appointed who shall reside at Vallejo, which town and Benicia are to be the sole ports of entry for the district. The Collector's compensation is fixed at $3,000 per annum, and he is to be allowed such clerks, weighers, gaugers, inspectors, appraisers, and other employees as the Secretary of the Treasury may by written order authorize him to appoint, who shall receive such compensation as the Secretary of the Treasury may allow.

A PERISHABLE RIGHT.—"We see it announced that a 'new political party' has been organized in New York, one of the principles of which is the right of suffrage without discrimination as to age or color. Another doctrine announced as a part of the political creed of the new organization is, 'the right of every person [male or female, as we understand it] to have a portion of the public lands free of expense.' We would advise the managers and interior spirits of the 'new party' to hurry up the walls of their new political Jerusalem, if they mean to secure for their followers their 'portion of the public lands.' At the rate the rail-roads are gobbling up the public domains about these days there will not be enough left to go around among a very large party six months hence.—[S. F. Chronicle.]

CONGRESS.—Something to alarm, disgust and startle California, comes to us in the shape of talk in the Eastern press about "our only sober Senator," who, it is said, is afraid to return to the obscurity which awaits him, if he ever commits his political chances to the people of this coast again. The little fellow is going around begging letters from strong men and leaders of rings, to induce Grant to give him something in the shape of a Cabinet appointment.

YOLO COUNTY DEMOCRAT.

County Official Paper.

TOWN AND COUNTY MATTERS.

THE FASHIONS.—A few days ago a young gentleman was seen addressing himself to a group of other young bloods on the subject of the fashions. His remarks upon the capriciousness and bad taste of the fair sex were rather severe, especially when he declared that the present fashion made every woman look just alike—"skimp and undignified"—and he proceeded to aver, most solemnly, that he was glad he had never married! Such a declaration, from a California bachelor of twenty, is pretty rough on the ladies and their fashions; but, without at all taking sides in a matter upon which our judgment may be warped, we will merely add, by way of mitigating circumstances for the ladies, that the immoderate old bachelor was himself not entirely safe from criticism. Taking him just as he stood, in skull hat, paper collar, stamp-tailed coat, tight-kneed pants and stub-toed boots, he would not have done to stand as a sculptor's model, unless the sculptor desired to make a representation of a small gourd covered with a very shallow wash-basin resting upon a sack of bran which latter was supposed to be upheld by a pair of tongs. Our special correspondent has not reported any recent notable changes or improvements in the ladies' fashions, save that the panniers are worn somewhat larger and higher, so as to compel the wearer to dispense with earrings and curls and all other obstructions at the back of the head, in order to give room for the proper elevation of the pannier.

LITERARY SOCIETY.—At the last meeting of the Yolo Literary Society, on Wednesday evening, quite a number of ladies were present and the debate seemed to have been enjoyed by all present. The question, "Resolved, That women should be allowed to vote," was not decided on the merits of the argument, but a further consideration of the subject was deferred until next Wednesday evening, when the argument will be concluded and submitted to the committee of judges. The next meeting will be held in Asbury's Block, on Wednesday evening.

SHADE TREES.—Many are availing themselves of the advantages offered by the present most favorable season for planting and transplanting vines, shrubs, shade and ornamental trees, etc., and as a consequence a great improvement in the appearance of farms, residences and highways may be expected in a few months. We have noticed some beautiful specimens at the several nurseries and residences of G. E. Sill, B. B. Franklin and J. E. Card, who have, perhaps, the best selected varieties in the market.

REAL ESTATE.—Several transactions in real estate, the figures and particulars of which will soon be made matters of record, have taken place during the past week, showing a steady increase of land-values and population, and that our town is being settled by men having the available capital to make business a permanent one. This is the kind of population needed to give stability and develop the ample resources of this vicinity.

DIVINE SERVICES TO-MORROW.—The usual service at the M. E. Church, in this place, will be conducted by Rev. P. Grove; Sabbath School at the usual hour. Rev. J. B. Hill, Presiding Elder for Sacramento District, will hold Quarterly Meeting at Cavehill in the morning, and preach at this place in the evening. Elder J. V. Poudget will preach at the Christian Church—Sabbath School as usual.

PUBLIC SPIRIT.—Treasurer Sill, having failed to coax the Board of Supervisors to make an appropriation for planting additional trees and shrubbery in the Court House square, has gone into the matter on his own account and for the benefit of the general public. He is adding considerably to the beauty and value of the public square by tasteful additions to the walks leading to the Court House.

WASHINGTON MONUMENT.—To-morrow, the congregations of the various churches throughout the United States will be expected to make contributions to the Washington Monument. At least such is the request of the National Monument Society, and it is hoped that few, if any congregations, will forget or ignore so patriotic and commendable a proposition.

PRODUCE.—Among the many produce commission merchants of San Francisco, none are more worthy of patronage than the firm of H. T. Fairbanks & Co., south-east corner of Front and Washington streets. We call the attention of farmers to their advertisement in another column.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—A call has been issued for a meeting at the Court House this evening of those who feel an interest in the organization of an Agricultural Society in this county. The meeting will no doubt be well attended. We confidently hope that the organization will be completed at an early day.

STOMACH BITTERS.—Dr. Hufeland's Swiss Stomach Bitters are becoming quite popular. The sales of this healthful tonic are rapidly increasing every year. Messrs. Taylor & Bendel, 409 and 411 Clay street, San Francisco, are the sole agents on this coast. See advertisement.

WOOL.—The enterprising firm of Miller & Co., 43 and 45 Clay street, San Francisco, invites the attention of wool growers to their establishment. The most liberal advances are made on consignments.

ETNA.—The Etna Fire Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut, pays all losses in U. S. gold coin and insures at most reasonable rates. The agent for this reliable company, J. McCormick, can be found at Fishman & Kaufman's store.

THE ALTA.—This paper is authorized to contradict the statement published in several journals that the Marysville and Oroville Railroad has been sold. The California Pacific Railroad Company are now getting the right of way for their branch road from Davisville to Marysville, and have let the contract for grading the section from Davisville to Woodland. Between the latter point and Marysville they will use the grade made ten years ago, much of it being in good condition yet. They have some of their iron here, and the remainder is at sea, to arrive before the first of May. They expect to have their cars running to Marysville on or before the first of August.

BRICK POWER.—This remarkable genius, having out-Heroded the Herods of the New York political press, now adds another feature to his wonderful paper in the way of original novelette stories, thus going after the specialties of Bonner's New York Ledger and that class. What next?

SHEEP MORTALITY.—The Marysville Appeal says that the late storm was very fatal to sheep. Fifty heads died on one ranch in Sacramento county from the effects of the storm. The storm was pitiless in more respects than one.

"My son, know thyself!" solemnly said a father to one of his offspring. "Thank you, sir," replied the son, "but my list of acquaintances is sufficiently large already."

There never yet was a case of Dyspepsia too obstinate to yield to the persistent use of this pure vegetable tonic, Plantation Bitters. It gives a new impulse to the whole digestive apparatus. The stomach, reinvigorated by its operation, rapidly turns to nourishment the food that would otherwise have lain for many hours a dead weight there, the work of assimilation is duly performed, the sympathetic brain and nervous system recover their vigor and activity, the animal spirits improve, and the whole being, corporeal and mental, is refreshed, strengthened and regulated. Such are the effects of this wholesome vegetable remedy, at once irresistible and harmless.

ELECTRO-SILICON.—This curious and valuable substance is confidently claimed to be the best article ever discovered for cleaning and polishing Gold, Silver and Plated Ware, and all smooth metallic surfaces, of whatever description, including kitchen utensils of tin, copper, brass, steel, etc.

TO HEADS OF FAMILIES.—Are your little ones subject to croup? If so, don't fail to use Newell's Pulmonary Syrup. A few doses given in time may save the life of a darling child. Do not fail to have it on hand, if you would be safe and free from anxiety.

MARRIED.—In Woodland, Feb. 17th, by Elder J. N. Pendegast, H. D. CONNELL to LOLA J. PENDEGAST. [A package of excellent cake accompanied the above notice. May happiness attend the wedded couple through a long and prosperous life.]

DIED.—At the residence of G. W. Brown, near Woodland, February 13th, SAMUEL McDONNELL, aged years.

[On the 11th of last month we chronicled the marriage of our friend McDONNELL, the arrival in our midst of the bride elect, and the happiness of the parties and their hosts of friends. To-day, with sadness of heart, we have to tell the story given in the above brief lines. What a commentary upon the mutability of all things human! This strong, noble heart, which a few short weeks ago beat with fond happiness at the altar, and the man who was best loved by those who knew him best, now lives only in the memories of the many devoted friends who can never forget his many virtues. Peace to his ashes!—and may He who sustains the weak and the grief-stricken, appear in this hour of bereavement and desolation to console and make strong the bereaved one.]

The conference-meeting through at last.
We boys around the vestry waited
To see the girls come tripping past,
Like snow-birds willing to be mated.

Not braver he that leaps the wall
By level market-places litten,
Than I, who stepped before them all,
Who loosed to see me get the mitten.

But no! she blushed and took my arm
We let the old folks have the highway,
And started towards the Maple Farm
Along a kind of lovers' by-way.

I can't remember what we said,
'Twas nothing worth a song or story,
Yet that rude path by which we sped
Brought all transformed and in a glory.

The snow was crisp beneath our feet,
The moon was full, the fields were gleaming;
By hood and tippet sheltered sweet
Her face with youth and health was beaming.

The little hand outside her muff—
O sculpton, if you could but mould it—
So lightly touched my jacket-cut
To keep it warm I had to hold it.

To have her with me there alone—
'Twas love and fear and triumph blended;
At last we reached the foot-worn stone
Where that delicious journey ended.

She shook her ringlets from her hood,
And with a "Thank you, Ned," dissembled,
But yet I knew she understood
With what a darling wish I trembled.

A cloud passed kindly overhead,
The moon was shyly peering through it,
Yet hid the face, as if it said,
"Come, now or never! do it! do it!"

My lips still then had only known
The kiss of mother and of sister,
But somehow fell upon her own
Sweet, rosy, darling mouth—I kissed her!

Perhaps 'twas boyish love, yet still,
O listless woman! carry lover!
To feel once more that fresh, wild thrill,
I'd give—but who can live you over?

A PARTY of men were surveying for a railroad, and of course they were entitled to the best there was along the line. At one house they thought the proprietor was a little tardy in producing the cider. It came at last, and was tasted by one of the party with great deliberation. "How much cider did you make this year?" he asked. "Fifteen barrels," was the answer. Another sip. "Well, if you had had another apple, you might have made another barrel."

An American writer says: "A woman will cling to the chosen object of her heart like a possum to a gum tree, and you can't separate her without snapping strings no art can mend, and leaving a portion of her soul on the upper leather of your affection. She will sometimes see something to love where others see nothing to admire; and when her fondness is once fastened on a fellow, it sticks like glue and treacle in a bushy head of hair."

AS PEOPLE sprinkle the floors before they wash them, so some ladies sprinkle their husbands with tears, in order to sweep cash out of their pockets.

"Mr. dear doctor," said an Irishman, "there is no use in your giving me an emetic; I tried it twice in Dublin, and they would not stay on my stomach."

A MANAGER said to a financier: "I would have you to know that I am a man of quality." "And I," replied the financier, "am a man of quantity."

HEIMBOLD'S BUCHU.

The only Known Remedy

FOR—

Diabetes, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Catarrh of the Bladder, &c., &c., &c.

For these diseases, it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise.

A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. Are you troubled with that disgusting pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful a day of Heimbold's Buchu will relieve you.

Physicians and Others

PLEASE NOTICE.

I make no secret of ingredients. Heimbold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Cubeb and Juniper Berries, selected with care, prepared in vacuo and according to the rules of Pharmacy and Chemistry.

These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretics afforded. A Diuretic is that which acts upon the kidneys. Heimbold's Extract Buchu acts gently. It is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its action. For the satisfaction of all, see Medical Properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:

"Buchu. Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, chronic catarrh of the Bladder, retention of the Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, chronic Rheumatism, cutaneous affections and Dropsy."

For further information see Professor Deane's valuable works on the Practice of Physic. See remarks made by the celebrated Dr. Physic, of Philadelphia. See any and all standard works on Medicine.

Dr. Keyser is a physician of over thirty years experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical college and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia.

Mr. H. T. HEIMBOLD—Dear Sir: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form of preparation of it I have not used or known to be used, in the various diseases which indicate its use. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys; and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts. I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves, the simple decoction, tincture fluid extracts; and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Eighteen years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits, and without prejudice or partiality I give you precedence over all others. I value your Buchu for its effects on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, many diseases of the bladder and kidneys that I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu, or any other proprietary compound of whatever name. Respectfully yours, etc.

FROM THE LARGEST MANUFACTURING CHEMIST IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Heimbold; he occupies the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. WM. WRIGHTMAN, (of Powers & Wrightman), Manufacturing Chemists, Ninth and Brown streets, Phila.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised as genuine preparations, and knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery, or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physician's simplest prescriptions, much less competent to prepare Pharmaceutical preparations. These parties resort to various means of effecting sales, such as carrying parts of advertisements of popular remedies and finishing with certificates. The action of medicine stands simple, pure and majestic, having faith for its basis, induction for its pillar, truth alone for its capital.

A Word of Caution.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.
